All Faiths to Join In Union Service On Thanksgiving Day

Rabbi Reuben M. Katz Is To Preach Sermon; Others to Take Part

Members of congregations of all faiths represented in Freeport are to attend the Union Thanksgiving Day service to be held in the chapel of the Freeport Methodist Church Thursday at 10 a.m. The Rev. C. Newman Hogel, pastor of the church, will preside.

Rabbi Reuben M. Katz, of Temple B'nai Israel, is to preach the sermon, taking as his subject, "Thanksgiving and the Religion of America." Other clergymen who will participate are the Rev. James S. Shaw, Church of the Nazarene, called to worship; the Rev. A. Gordon MacGarry, First Presbyterian, invocation; Rev. L. M. Carper, Zion A.M.E. Church, scripture reading; Rev. L. M. Hickman, Church of God, prayer; Rev. R. G. Harris, Second Baptist Church, President's proclamation; Rev. Reginald H. Scott, offertory, and Mons. John J. Mahon, Our Holy Redeemer R.C. Church, benediction.

Heretofore only the Protestant church have joined in the Thanksgiving Day service, but this year through the efforts of the Freeport Inter-Faith Clergy Council it was decided to open the event to all faiths and races. A group of men calling themselves the Friends of the United Laymen, has issued an appeal for all Freeport residents to observe Thanksgiving Day by attending the service, which reads: "Thursday, Nov. 23 is Thanksgiving."

"We know that you do not need us to tell you that this joyful, annual, festive, family day is once again close at hand."

"Nor do you need us to remind you that Thanksgiving was the first annual holiday adopted by our founding fathers and set aside for national commemoration."

"We are further quite sure that you are well aware of the origin of Thanksgiving. How, out of grateful hearts for the harvest which assured their being able to continue to live on in their new-found land of liberty and religious freedom, our ancestors set a day aside upon which all would join in giving thanks to Almighty God for His blessings."

"What we do believe you need us to remind you, is the fact that every year for many years, our Inter-Faith Clergy Council has con-

'Devils' to See Rutgers Play Colgate As Guests Of Fathers And Boosters

As a reward for overwhelmingly defeating Baldwin, 47 to 13, in climaxing the football season of 1950, and going through their schedule with a defeat, the Fathers' and Boosters' Club of Freeport Schools is to take the Freeport High School gridiron squad of Red Devils and their coaches to New Brunswick, N.J., on Saturday to witness the Rutgers-Colgate game. This party will leave Freeport about 9:30 A.M., by bus and cars of the members, and arrive at the stadium in time for all to enjoy the pre-game ceremonies.

There is much local interest in the game since Langan of Colgate and LaPrairie of Rutgers are Freeporters and both are key men on their respective teams. After the game all hands will repair to the Oak Hills Manor in Metuchen where, a feast will be ready for the more than 50 guests. The entire coaching and managerial staffs are expected to make the trip as well as some of the ex-Freeport stars who are playing college ball. Coaches Bixler of Colgate and Harmon of Rutgers also have been invited. Rumor has it that both of these men are more than a little interested in some of the Freeport boys.

The Fathers' and Boosters' Club takes this way of saying WELCOME to a fine bunch of boys and as courageous and as knowing a team as has worn the RED in many a year.

Grove Street Class Gives Safety Program

Pupils in Miss Elizabeth Kelly's class put on a program indicating the need of safety at a membership tea given by the Parent-Teacher Association of the Grove at school. Safety films were shown and appropriate records were played with the aid of the pupils. A Thanksgiving food basket was awarded to Robert Clark, a member of the class.

Mrs. Howard F. Munro, publicity chairman for the Long Island district of the State Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave a talk on the value of P.T.A. work.

Plans were made for a Christmas party for the pupils to be given on Thursday Dec. 21, just before the schools close for the holidays, and a tree trimming party will be given on Wednesday night, Dec. 20.

Mrs. Clarence McIntyre, vice-president, presided in the absence of President Albert Marmon.

Freeport Pledges To Hospital Fund Now Total $44,751

Freeporters have pledged $44,751.07 toward the South Nassau Communities Hospital's $125,000 expansion campaign, Mrs. Gordon F. Waaser, associate chairman for the village, reported at a progress meeting held in the South Side High School auditorium in Rockville Centre, Thursday night. Except for Rockville Centre's $91,590.16, this was by far the largest amount reported by any community.

The grand total reported was $353,970.00, an increase of more than $100,000 over the first report meeting held on October 24 according to an announcement made by Theodore J. Bourgignon, general campaign chairman.

The hospital development program will cost a minimum of $450,000 and will increase the bed capacity from 98 to 207. This is the first campaign the hospital has conducted in 22 years. The institution is a non-profit corporation operated by a Board of directors comprised of 48 representative citizens who serve without pay. In addition to this service each board member must pay annual dues which go to the charity fund. This group has also pledged $100,000 as its share in the campaign and turned in almost $46,000 to date.

The actual solicitation of funds started only a few weeks ago and to date less than 20 per cent of the prospects have reported, according to Mr. Bourgignon. The campaign leaders are optimistic since the reports so far are showing more than 70 per cent of the people are contributing and that the average gift is very high. "The campaign will be continued until the goal has been achieved and the desperately needed additional facilities supplied," he stated.

The next general meeting will be a jamboree in the Garden City hotel, Saturday night Dec. 9. It will be a Christmas party in celebration of the hospital's 22nd anniversary and honoring the members of the campaign committees who are giving of their time, energy and money to make that development program a success.

Salvation Army Debt Of $17,247 Paid Up Mortgage Is Burned

Horace E. DeLisser Elected Chairman Of Advisory Committee

The burning of the mortgage on the Salvation Army property, 75 Church st., featured "appreciation night" at the annual meeting of the Advisory Committee Monday night, in headquarters. When Mr. Ernest W. Newton took charge in April 1948 the property was encumbered with a mortgage of $7,025.50, and since then conditions in the building have necessitated expenditures of $9,335.11, for a total indebtedness of $17,247.61.

Through their own activities, members of the Army raised funds to clear all this off leaving the property free and clear of debt. And Benjamin H. Helm, the chairman, explained that not one cent raised in the annual campaign to carry on the work of the Army in Freeport had gone for this purpose.

Mr. Helm held the mortgage as Senior Major C. Emil Nelson, who recently was appointed divisional commander for the Metropolitan area, succeeding Col. William Maliby, applied the lighted match to the document which soon went up in smoke.

The meeting marked the retirement of Mr. Helm as chairman of the group as Horace E. DeLisser was elected to succeed him, with Harold F. Strohman as vice-chairman, Mrs. Marion Banker, secretary, and Hubert L. Wells, treasurer. The slate was submitted by Russell E. Hotelling, chairman of the nominating committee which also comprised Mrs. Louis Lord and Miss M. Elizabeth Schreiber.

The meeting was opened with an invocation by Major Paul Vaughn, of Hempstead and Mr. Helm brought greetings. Major Newton introduced Major and Mrs. Vaughn and Major Walter Furter. Music was provided by a trio playing the accordion, violin and piano from the Wayside School for Girls in Valley Stream. Major Emily Eastwood, superintendent of the school, attended the event with a group of girls who also served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Mr. DeLisser, chairman of the 1950 campaign, gave the final figures showing $44,751.07 collected.

Nassau Y. C. Plans Club in Bay Estates, Hearing Reveals

Some Opposition Heard, Ask Exemption of Area From Residence Zone

A hearing conducted by the Village Board on the rezoning of the section of the Freeport Bay Estates recently annexed to the incorporated village Monday night led to the announcement that the Nassau Yacht Club of Freeport had contracted to buy a large tract of ground in the area for a club house and other activities.

As the hearing opened, Mayor Robert L. Dossie announced that the property had been zoned as Residence "B" by the Town of Hempstead. No such classification is provided under the Municipal Zoning Ordinance, he added. Samuel L. Israel, who said he represented 33 property owners in the area, recommended that the district be given a Residence "A" zoning. Trevelwell H. Hopkins, of the Atlantic South Civic Association, backed up the recommendation.

Julian Jarvis, of Long Beach, commodore of the Nassau Yacht Club, then revealed that the club last summer contracted to purchase a plot 430 by 100 feet at the east end of Bedell st., fronting on the Freeport River and the canal. He said this action had been taken after other plots in neighboring villages had been looked over. He added it was proposed to erect a small clubhouse, 30 by 50 feet in area, at a cost of approximately $10,000, with other developments that would enhance the neighborhood to follow. He urged that the property owned by the club be not included in the Residence "A" district.

William G. Schneider, Jr., whose home is nearest to the proposed yacht club site, objected on the ground that it would bring increased traffic into the area, and otherwise be undesirable in a residential area.

C. T. Hellsten, past commander of the South Shore Power Squadron and chairman of the Mayor's Freeport Waterfront Committee, disagreed with Mr. Schneider. He urged that the improvement of the waterfront be carried out with intelligence, and said that he was proud to be a member of the South Shore Yacht Club. He added that he was responsible for bringing together the owners of the property involved with the others in the club and added that in doing he thought he had done something that would be for the best interests of the section.

Dr. Bernard D. Weinberg said the club members had no intention of tearing down the level of the housing in the section and promised that when finally developed the yacht club project would prove an asset to the community. Oscar Albert, a member of the club, said he moved into the Freeport Bay Estates because he wanted to be near the club.

Mr. Hopkins, speaking for himself, said he had always regarded a yacht club as an asset to a community.

The board reserved decision on the matter and Mayor Dossie announced definite action would be taken in the near future.

There also was considerable argument over a proposal to rezone the northside of Bedell st. to the vicinity of South Main st. from Manufacturing to Residence "A" and again formal action was delayed pending further study.

Greater Show of Thankfulness Urged By Rev. R. H. Scott in talk to Rotary

A greater show of thankfulness on the part of the American people for the many benefits they have received was urged by the Rev. Reginald H. Scott, rector of the Transfiguration P. E. Church, in his Thanksgiving Day message to the members of the Rotary Club at their supper Thursday night in the Elks clubhouse.

Recalling that of the ten lepers cleansed by Jesus Christ at one time during his ministry on earth, only one stopped to thank his benefactor, Rev. Scott remarked:

"I guess that is probably the proper ratio of the present day. I imagine only about one out of ten is giving thanks to God for the many blessings of his grace they receive. Never has there been an attendance of more than 200 at the union Thanksgiving service in the Village of Freeport despite the membership in the Protestant churches of the community, giving you an idea as to how many are willing to step out to a place of worship to thank God for his mercies."

The Rev. Mr. Scott read the proclamation of George Washington when president calling for the observance of a day of thanksgiving for the many blessings enjoyed by the people of his day. He recalled that President Abraham Lincoln set aside the fourth Thursday of November as a day of thanksgiving, a practice continued by his successors except by "one president" who made a change for a couple years.

Thanksgiving Day, he continued, is not observed so much as it was 50 years ago. He attributed this situation to several philosophies which have been developed in recent years, such as Pragmatism, the belief that if a thing works it is true, and naturalism, that one gets all the benefits of life and stops exactly there. These he said have deteriorated social existence and "haven't lifted us up."

"How many people are thankful for the things around us, the sun, the earth and rain?" he asked, "yet religion says they are the offerings of God, our personal supreme being. In conclusion the rector said all should be thankful that all things come from God, the dependability of God and freedom of religion, as if 'you lose religious freedom you lose everything you have.'"

George Porter Smith introduced the speaker, and President Chester H. Smiley presided.

Freeport in Survey Of Offstreet Parking Regional Plan Ass'n. Issues Report on Study In Three-state Areas

Freeport is included in a 35-page illustrated report entitled "Municipal Offstreet Parking" just issued by the Regional Plan Association, Inc. It gives details of the dramatic postwar growth of municipal offstreet parking systems in the New York-New Jersey-Connecticut Metropolitan Region.

The Association estimates there are almost three million automobiles in the metropolitan area. "Before the war in these cars can become customers they must first become pedestrians. Progressive communities have awakened to the fact that a place to park cars is essential in this process," said Frederick F. Clark, planning director of the association.

Summarizing some of the highlights of the Association's detailed survey of 84 municipalities, Mr. Clark said that (1) most municipal offstreet parking facilities are free; (2) most municipal offstreet parking areas have no time limits on use; (3) land costs for municipal parking fields have varied from a low of 6 cents per square foot to a high of $62 per square foot to a average cost of $1.08; (4) where fees are charged for municipal parking, the most favored rates are 5 cents per hour and 5 cents for 2 hours; and (5) where time limits are set on municipal parking, the most usual time limits are 3 or 4 hours.

"As a result of our study," Mr. Clark continued, "the Association has arrived at the following conclusions: (1) convenient parking at transit customers; (2) commuter railroad stations must continue to provide parking space; (3) stores should provide direct access from interior block parking areas to their shops; (4) ample loading and unloading space should be provided at the rear of the stores in this parking area; and (5) parking areas should be landscaped to prevent unsightliness."

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL MY FELLOW FREEPORTERS

Dear Madame and Sir:

You and I and our neighbors are living in a very confused period. World events in faraway places have come right home to us and are affecting our habits, our work and our incomes.

Our Country is fighting the legions of tyranny and darkness with dollars and guns and the cream of our young men. We at home are in the battle, too, and of course we feel the pressure of the fray.

Taxes are up. Take-home pay is a little curtailed. Price levels are rising. We all are watching our spending more carefully.

As a Merchant on our our Main Street for years, I am well aware of the pressure that's on us. But as a citizen and neighbor I am also aware that a practical spirit of give and take is in order.

With that in mind, I have decided to make the following offer to all readers of this open letter:

Until further notice, I WILL GIVE YOU 10% OFF ON EVERY ARTICLE OF MERCHANDISE IN MY STORE

(Except Merchandise Already Specially Priced)

This reduced price is offered in a spirit of neighborliness and understanding of our common problems. Come in; make your selection, and take ten percent off the original price tag. It will be a nice thing for both of us.

Yours for a new "Spirit of Freeport".

Plans For Northeast Playground Are Exhibited At Civic Meeting

A map showing the proposed layout of the park and playground to be created in northeastern section of the village to extend from Commercial st., north to Parsons ave. and between Harrison and Lakeview aves., was displayed by W. E. Crevoiserat, a member of the commission in charge, at the November meeting of the Northeast Civic Association in the home of Harry J. Berkowitz, 215 North Ocean ave.

Tennis courts, badminton and volleyball facilities are included in one section, a playground equipped with a giant strike, swings, slides, merry-go-round and a sand box in another; a softball diamond and an area for basketball and skating complete the layout except for a comfort station. Facilities for parking along Commercial st. also are provided.

Work on the Northeast Park together with another in the southwest and the Milburn Pond tract is to be carried out simultaneously, Mr. Crevoiserat said. The northeast project is the only one in which the cost of acquiring land is involved, since the areas for the others were acquired from New York City at a nominal fee. It is proposed to spread the work of constructing the parks over three years, and appropriations for the start will be included in the 1951-52 Municipal budget, Mr. Crevoiserat explained. He added that even if all the money necessary was available it would not be possible to complete the work in one year since it takes time to grow sodded areas to withstand use as a playground.

Pedestrians Urged To Look Out For Autos While Crossing Streets

"You're only two feet from death," Captain J. Melvin Hagon, chairman of the Freeport Safety Council, said today, "anytime you venture into the street!"

"About 8,900 persons walked to their deaths in 1949," he said, "and the toll of injured pedestrians ran into six figures according to the National Safety Council. The danger to those who walk in—or cross in reality, just two feet from death."

The Council's November program has pedestrian safety as its theme and is being coordinated in Freeport in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"At this time of year," Capt. Hagon continued, "pedestrian deaths begin their dizzy climb to top the monthly average for the rest of the year. In cities, particularly, the toll of walkers is staggering during October, November, and December. In November we can predict that pedestrian deaths will run about 30 to 40 per cent above average."

The additional dangers of reduced visibility and inclement weather during these months make carelessness and disregard for traffic rules on the part of pedestrians doubly foolhardy according to the Safety Council.

Special effort to emphasize these dangers to pedestrians this month is needed, according to Capt. Hagon.

"Our immediate goal," he remarked, "is to utilize every means possible to bring home to all walkers three important factors involved in pedestrian accidents. Pedestrians should keep in mind that:

"1. In any dispute involving a pedestrian and a car, the car is sure to win. The average automobile outweighs the walker by 10 to 20 times. This is one good reason why it is ridiculous for a pedestrian to take chances. He can't win.

"2. Rules and regulations designed to control and protect pedestrians are not based on whims. Surveys made by some cities and states have indicated that from three out of four to eight out of ten pedestrians in fatal accidents were walking in violation of some traffic rule at the time.

"3. Blind obedience to traffic rules and regulations is no fool-proof means of escaping death or injury. Alertness is too often discarded when the pedestrian feels that he has the right of way. He should always expect the unexpected."

Definite, tangible reductions in pedestrian death and injury rate this winter are not only possible, Capt. Hagon asserted, but inevitable. "Inevitable, that is, if the pedestrians themselves want it that way!" he said, grimly. "Inevitable, that is, if they remember that everytime they step from a curb from a streetcar, or from a safety island that they are just two feet from death!"

Redeemer Players Guild Scores

Business Women

To Hold Yule Party

Mrs. Doris Oak-Rhind Tells Club How U. S. Aided Australia

Plans for the annual Christmas party to be held at the Sweden Towers, Baldwin, Saturday night, Dec. 9, were announced by Mrs. Agnes Jacobs, the president, at the November meeting of the Business Women of Freeport held in the same place. Miss Ruth Norris and Mrs. Sallie Buckley were appointed to make arrangements for the event.

A nominating committee comprised of Mrs. Alice Anderson, Miss Alice Fraser, Miss Anna Fritz, Miss Helen E. Ross and Mrs. Buckley was appointed to report at the December meeting. A contribution of $15 was voted to "The Spirit of Freeport" Fund.

"Lend-Lease operations in Australia during World War II created a greater understanding between that country and the United States," Mrs. Doris Oak-Rhind, the guest speaker, said. Mrs. Oak-Rhind was secretary and consultant in charge of the lend-lease office in Melbourne when the office was established about a year after Pearl Harbor.

Prior to the war, Australia had only secondary industries such as sheep raising, dairying and wool production," she added. "Equipment from the United States and highly trained technicians have made possible primary industries and aided greatly in the development of Australia."

"An excellent air service has made possible a million dollar industry in the freezing of the spot and shipment of lobster tails to the U. S. Only recently the highest price on record was paid for Australian wool," Mrs. Oak-Rhind emphasized the fact that the warmth of Australian hospitality and its scenic beauty made up for its noted lack of comforts.

Appleton Retail Outlet

For 'Wilsolve' for Floors

Appleton Hardware, 91 Main st., has been appointed a retail outlet for "Wilsolve," a newly-developed organic liquid product that eliminates the problem of sanding floors by quickly removing varnish, shellac, plastic or wax from floors, furniture or inlaid linoleum. It was announced by Edward M. Loeger, president of Lowbo, Inc. of Chicago, producers of the product.

Developed under a new principle of manufacturing, the new liquid reacts on the wood surface in a matter of two minutes dissolving the old varnish. No scraping is necessary. No old-fashioned sanding is required. All a homemaker need do is pour the solution on a two-foot area, work it up with steel wool and then remove it with a squeegee or cloth. Without any additional rinsing, the floor is clean and ready to be coated, varnished or waxed.

In addition to cleaning wooden floors, the new product removes wax, plastic or shellac from inlaid linoleum without affecting the floor covering. It can be effectively used on household furniture.

Memorial Library

November 12 to 18 marks the observance of the 32d National Children's Book Week. This fall, as in the past new books, colorful through their many illustrations, are finding their way into the hearts and lives of young and old.

Stories and poems loved by adults as children and equally, now, by youngsters and adults are found in the recently published collection, "Better Homes and Gardens Story Book" by Betty O'Connor. The selections range widely, including some lyrical nonsense of Edward Lear, some simply Aesop's truths, the familiar and beloved "Peter Rabbit," Helen Bannerman's original text and drawings for "Little Black Sambo." Two of the stories from "Peter Pan" appear, a bit of the jungle wonder of Rudyard Kipling and many other fascinating tales and delightful rhymes.

Reproductions of the original art work for each story and poem enrich this very special collection. Such reproductions were often quite difficult to obtain. Walter Crane's originals for "Old Mother Hubbard" could be found only in an edition located in the New York Public Library. The rarity of this book prohibited its being taken from the library. It was necessary then, to photocast each page so the artists could work from that source.

"The Better Homes and Gardens Story Book" in presenting the very best of literature and art for children, fills a need for that which is both educational and entertaining.

In contrast to stories which have become a part of our heritage is the book "Diesel-Electric 4050." Throughout its pages Henry Billings has given a most complete and informative description of the workings of the Diesel-electric locomotive. He makes the story personal by telling of his own experiences while riding in the cab of the locomotive on its run up the Hudson River, along with the fireman and the engine man. Train lovers of all ages are sure to welcome this book of modern railway transportation.

"Texas Tomboy" by Lois Lenski (J.B. Lippincott Co. $2.50) is another of the author's regional stories. Charlotte was one of those girls who would rather be out of doors than indoors, who was happy only when she could be on her own horse, riding or working with her father. "Don't call me Charlotte," she would say. "Call me Charlie Boy." Even her father admitted that she was spoiled, but they were pals and, in time, Charlie Boy learned real values. She discovered that a good cowboy must obey orders and that a ranch owner must learn arithmetic. Mrs. Lenski's characteristic drawings enliven this realistic Texan ranch story of the early 1900's.

Good stories of family life may be far more effective than books written for parents and teachers. "This Boy Cody" by Leon Wilson falls in this category. Cody's most eventful day, to date, came when he was ten. He was different, he knew, and he felt important. That was also the day of the house-raising. Cody was overwhelmed to discover that a house could be completely built in one day. But what was this? After the neighbors had gone, he heard his father say, looking at the sun and then consulting his gold watch. "Be a shame to let the rest of this day go to waste." "I believe I'll hitch up Luther and plow till supper time." "Milt said this in such a way that made Cody recall again that he was ten years old and growing bigger, every minute." "I'm not half tired either," Cody said. "I'm going to milk and get in some wood for Mom."

Omaha, Cody's sister and Gailie.
